Synergex Med provides Interventional Pain Management in Long Beach, Los Alamitos, Fullerton, and Garden Grove ranging from conservative medical management to surgical options, giving patients a complete and comprehensive care.

At Synergex Med, all of their physicians are board-certified and fellowship-trained. This team of highly trained and respected specialists believes in an interventional and lifestyle-based approach to treating pain and brain injuries. They seek to bring a careful and thoughtful approach to each patient's condition.

Their physicians have trained at some of the finest institutions in the nation and they seek to provide that quality of care to patients. They view the role of the physician to help patients make the best decisions towards their health for themselves.

They want every patient to have an experience in which they feel listened to, are not rushed, and are provided with a transparent academic level of care which is often missing in community practices.
